HONGKONG, 25th SEPTEMBER, 1903.

MR. ROBERT SHEWAN's letter to the Times, which we publish in another column to-day, will doubtless be read with interest in Hongkong. As the London and China Express of the 25th August says in an editorial note upon the letter, it is a pity that it did not reach London in time for the series of questions asked by Mr. SHEWAN to be put to the First Lord of the Admiralty before the prorogation of Parliament. Mr. SHEWAN wrote on the 17th July (while still in Hongkong), and presumably the letter reached London on the 17th August, though it was not published in the Times until the 27th of the month. Mr. SHEWAN deals very frankly with a question which is of great importance to the Colony, and the case as he presents it is very strong. In particular, his ninth question, if it should be answered in the affirmative, is an argument of most telling force. He asks whether it is not a fact that the value of the present site and work is estimated by expert judges to be sufficient to defray the whole cost of removal as well as the cost of the new site. If the reply should be "Yes," then it may be well asked, further, why the Admiralty in their letter of the 9th March to the Colonial Office, demanded such enormous terms from Hongkong in return for an abandonment of the present site and works. Mr. SHEWAN promised a second letter, containing a proposal for a far more commodious, economical, and suitable naval establishment than that at present occupied in Hongkong. We shall await this with no little eagerness. In the meanwhile, although Mr. SHEWAN's first communication to the Times was unfortunately too late to be made use of in the way he hoped, yet the ventilation of the subject in the columns of the leading paper of London and the world cannot have entirely failed to have an effect. The lapse of time makes a change of site gradually more unlikely; but that it is not yet impossible is shown by the very letter of the Admiralty on the 9th March last.

A member of the Junior Conservative Club was to leave London on the 9th inst. on a trip round the world, which he had bargained to complete in 50 days. He even calculated that, if he has very good luck, he can do it in 48 days. He will travel outward by the Trans-Siberian Railway, cross the Pacific coast by Canadian Pacific steamer to Vancouver, across Canada on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and sail for England from New York. In the meantime we note that the newspaper representative who started on the 26th June to beat the round the world record, returned in 54 days, 9 hours and 42 min., the quickest time ever made. He enjoyed no special facilities, and used the regular trains and steamships at the usual fares.

It is amusing, says the Indian Planter's Gazette, to read of the Chinese being urged by wisecracks to advertise their teas, the same as British tea-growers are doing, if they wish to save their declining export trade from utter annihilation. The people who tender the advice are absolutely ignorant of the conditions of the tea trade in China. Whilst the Chinese yearly manufacture some 2½ billion lbs. of tea for their own home consumption, the amount they make for export only totals some 1½ million lbs. all told. Their export trade is a matter of more or less indifference to them. To expect them to advertise, under the circumstances, is the extreme of foolishness. John Chinaman knows perfectly well how to take care of himself, and wherever there is money to be made he is all there. We have to bear in mind also that the Chinese oftentimes find it more lucrative to turn their attention to other products than tea—they then give their business a rest, doing nothing by so doing.

Taking warning from the saying "One never knows the want of water till the well is dry," the P. W. D. might set about the repair of leaking water-pipes. The number of these to be seen in the city, both east and west, is large, and now is the time to have them put in order.

We have to acknowledge the receipt from Sr. Eduardo Higginson, Peruvian Consul at Southampton, of a fine map of Peru, which has just been published and has been forwarded to us at the request of Sr. D. On the back of the map is a lot of descriptive matter of a very interesting nature about this great and rapidly progressing South American republic.

The Havas Agency in Paris last month published the following semi-official communiqué:—"Contrary to the statements of certain journals, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, as soon as he was acquainted with the demand for extradition of the Shanghai journalists, immediately pronounced for its rejection, and telegraphed instructions accordingly." We recommend this to the attention of our French contemporary in Shanghai, L'Echo de Chine.

Rumours are plentiful that Viceroy Chang Chih-tung will not return to Wuhan, and he is even said to have expressed his desire to give up the Hukwang viceroyalty. The only difficulty is to find him a post at Peking worthy of his merit, such as the presidency of some Board. The present Acting Viceroy of the Hukwang provinces is reported to be most anxious to obtain the substantive appointment if Chang Chih-tung does not return.

Mr. Balfour is still at Balmoral. The feeling prevails that the prolonged negotiations indicate the Cabinet changes will be more far-reaching than was at first anticipated.

THE NAVY AND THE WAR COMMISSION.

LONDON, 22nd September.
Admiral Lambton has written to the Admiralty demanding an unreserved apology from Lieut-General Sir Archibald Hunter for his sweeping criticism on the shooting of the Naval guns at Ladysmith in the course of his evidence on the War Commission, where he said that "school-girls would make better practice than the naval men."

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

LONDON, 22nd September.
It is semi-officially announced in Budapest that the Emperor is most pained at the construction placed on the Army order, which misinterprets His Majesty's intention. The Emperor simply wished to make it clear that he will not permit the disruption of the common Army; the order does not prejudice the changes demanded by the Hungarian Liberals, and the solution of the questions raised thereby are under consideration.

BOMBAY PRESIDENCY v. PARSEES AT CRICKET.

DESTRUCTION OF BOAT-BUILDERS' SHEDS.

Fire broke out at Cheungshawan, British Kowloon, on Wednesday afternoon, in a shed used for boat-building. Five matchsheds were soon completely gutted and the boats in course of building burnt. The villagers turned out with an old fire manual, but as the tide was low could not render much assistance. Chief Inspector Baker with firemen from the Central proceeded to the scene with a floating engine and kept the flames from spreading. As the matchsheds were uninsured their loss will be keenly felt. The damage is estimated at $2,000.

POLLARD COMPANY AT THE THEATRE ROYAL.

A third performance of A Goy Night in Paris was given last night, and if all those who witness the predicaments of Uinglet and Marcella in their search for the unconventional do not cry such, they will have had knowledge of the timely consequences without paying for their experience. Last night there was again too much of the "my boy" prefixed to lines. Messrs. Noble and Carr were the chief offenders in this respect. However, the performance as a whole was enjoyable.

"WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES."

To-night a change of piece is to be made. Charles Hannan's farce-comedy What Happened to Jones being submitted for the first time in Hongkong. Of this play the N.C. Daily News says:—"If the audience that assembled at the Lyceum do not know what happened to Jones, it must be because they laughed so much that they lost the thread of the plot from time to time." If that is so, residents who have looked for to-night's performance may look forward to a pleasant opening. Contrasting well with What Happened to Jones, the Setting of the Sun, which will precede the main piece, will be also worth hearing. In the course of the performance Miss Marjorie Tempest will sing the "Flower Song" from Faust. Miss Ascoli and Mr. Ed. Noble will contribute a grotesque dance, and a descriptive musical sketch, entitled "Pictures from a Soldier's Life," will be given by Mr. Alfred Talbot. The band of the Sherwood Foresters under the baton of Bandmaster Bradley, who arranged the accompaniments to the special items, will play selections.

MACAO.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

Macao, 22nd September.
AT ITS BEST.
Macao is at its best, or very near it. Only those who have stayed or resided here can appreciate to the full what that best is; bright sunny skies, cool refreshing breezes, perfection of scenery—an ideal spot for those who for a few days wish to leave behind them the bustle and business of the city, and the confinement and monotony of the office and seek rest and recreation for weary minds and bodies. We noticed that quite a number of visitors availed themselves of the opportunity of a quiet weekend at the Boa Vista, Macao Hotel, and Hotel Internacional on Saturday last; but, numerous though they were on that occasion, we wonder that they do not come oftener or in even greater numbers. We who reside in this favoured spot would be the last to wish to see Macao degenerate into the modern and fashionable watering-place with its attendant minstrels, bathing-machines, and donkeys. We only wish that many others could share in its beauties and quiet pleasures, without any apprehensions of its developing into a Margate or a Brighton.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

We hear, but do not vouch for the accuracy of the report, that the 28th inst., the King of Portugal's birthday, is not to be marked by any unusual demonstrations, fetes, or banquets. The subjects of His Majesty will show their loyalty (in that they are not lucky) but they will do it in a quiet way. There is presumably a leave in the morning, and the Colony will keep holiday, but we have heard nothing so far of festivities on any large scale. IMPROVEMENTS AND OTHERWISE IN MACAO.

They that go down to the sea in ships had their hearts stirred within them when they heard that the local Government were entertaining serious thoughts of, and even inviting tenders for, the long-needed dredging of the harbour. Perhaps the project is merely dormant for a space, and perhaps we shall yet one day be held the masters of the deep floating in the waters of Macao; but the weeks and months are passing and we hear less instead of more of the undertaking, and see less still. Another innovation of which we have now almost immediate hopes and expectations is the lighting of the streets and principal buildings with electricity. Those who look at Macao only through the eyes of the sentiment shake their heads and say that the dim and old-time illumination of the streets is more in keeping with the historic nature and old associations of the place. But to those who can take a broader view, there is no doubt that the plan is an excellent and advantageous one, and one out of several that the Colony should undertake if it is to keep as far as possible in the path of progress. But—and we speak now from the point of view of the lover of natural scenery—there is one tendency which we cannot but condemn—the tendency of the builder and contractor to erect his architectural blocks on an otherwise beautiful landscape. We refer to the beautiful road—once before alluded to as one of the most perfect of its kind in the East—which pursues its course for some miles and a half from the outskirts of the city to the Barrier. In the first mile of its course the building fiend has mercifully so far restrained his natural impulses, and left the glories of the road well-nigh unimpaired. But on the northern shore—hard by the spot where the inhabitants of Macao are wont to assemble on summer afternoons and enjoy the delights of sands and scenery and bathing—these hideous mansions, with no pretence to architectural beauty, have sprung into existence, and—but Heaven and the authorities forbid!—we can dimly foresee the day when a row of eyesores will disfigure the whole length of the gently curving bay. Perhaps these fears are unfounded; we fervently hope they may be as far from truth as the present erections are devoid of beauty.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS.

Those to whom scenery appeals possibly less than other attractions rejoice in the welcome change to cool and finer weather, which enables them once more to indulge in comfort in social gaieties and recreation. The officers of the Diu have recommenced their Saturday afternoon "at-homes" at the Naval Tennis Court, and the opening day on Saturday last was very largely attended. The other tennis clubs are awaking from their summer torpor and displaying renewed energy. Bicyclists and pedestrians, of whom there are many, are once more indulging in their favourite pastimes; and even bathers find greater enjoyment now that the water is becoming cooler, and one does not have to wait anxiously for the last rays of the sun to disappear below the hills before venturing forth from the bathing shed. The band is playing regularly every week on Thursday evenings in front of Government House and on Sunday mornings in the Praya Gardens, and the numbers who attend prove that its popularity has not waned in the slightest degree. One only wonders that in these exceptionally favourable waters sailing is not a pastime which meets with greater encouragement. Now and then, but very rarely, we see the trim white sails of a tiny pleasure yacht on the waters of the inner or outer harbour, which afford endless opportunities to the devotees of the sailing art if only the devotees were more enthusiastic to avail himself of them.

Editors in Tennessee have at times to solve some delicate conundrums. The Memphis Commercial Appeal, for instance, was recently called upon to pronounce judgment on the following set of circumstances:—"There was a dance in Macon County, and because Miss Julia Bell showed her favours upon Jim Frets, he was attacked by Dick Mason, Tom Fields, Clay House, Mike Johnson, and three others. But Mr. Frets happened to be as handy with the gun as he was popular in the waltz. For after he had been cut about the head, he didn't do a thing but kill three of his assailants and dangerously wound a fourth." The editorial comment on the event was concise: "Frets is certainly entitled to the girl."

THE WAVE OF CRIME IN HONGKONG.

A PLEA FOR THE POLICE.

Crime is so prevalent at present in the Colony, more especially in the island of Hongkong, that scarcely a day passes but a report is made to the police of some outrage having been committed. The public naturally turn to their protectors, the police, on whom opprobrium is heaped, should the criminals escape and remain uncaptured. While the public, and also the Press, criticise so severely, it might be interesting to a few to know:—

1. What are the men composing the police?
2. What training do they receive?
3. What encouragement is given to the men composing the police, to create in them a healthy interest for their work?

Taking the first question, it is a fact known to all that the bulk of the men composing the police are Indians and Chinese. Of Europeans—making allowance for sick and for others on leave in England—there are barely 100 men available for duty. On these men rests the onus of supervising the whole of the police work both in the New Territory and in Hongkong. The men who do the best duties in Hongkong are either Indians or Chinese, and to these men, whose brains—with a few exceptions—are of a poor mental order, is entrusted the property—nay, lives—of the gubnor public.

Probably no one will question the loyalty or bravery of the Indian constable, and indeed "Sahib" is a very good word in a rough-and-tumble, but I think it will also be agreed that he is but distantly related to "Sherlock Holmes" or "Dick Donovan." Briefly, the Indian is an equally picturesque and inefficient rival of the police.

At the most his duties should be confined to the controlling of hawkers and traffic. In the "stilly night" the tramp of "Sahib's" big boots can be heard from the other end of his beat, and the nocturnal thief draws his bearings accordingly. If the boots are not heard, the chances are that "Sahib" is comfortably asleep somewhere. At the best he moons around his beat in a listless fashion.

His comrade, the Chinese constable, is, if anything, a trifle worse. Dismissal from the police has no terrors for him, and he enjoys life squeezing his brother Celestial and performing his beat duty in an even worse fashion than the Indian. Of course, there are exceptions, but I speak generally.

It is a positive fact that there are at times only two or three Europeans on night duty in the Central District, who have to superintend six sections with an average of ten beats on each section. In their efforts to keep down expenses, the authorities have long ago withdrawn the mounted patrols from the Aberdeen and Shaikwan roads. The result is that, at the present time these roads are not safe for law-abiding persons to venture out on alone. If it is an expense to fodder horses, why not have bicycle patrols as in the British Isles? Outside the initial expenses, the cost would be little and the benefits many.

Turning to the second question—the training of the men—the only answer to give is: they receive nil. If their logs out stamping on a hard concrete compound, in a vain attempt to learn "drill," or sitting in a so-called school-room studying hieroglyphics on a blackboard—the meaning of which many of the scholars have only a vague inkling of—be training, then I have got another name for it. The amount of needless drill the police receive here makes one think of them as soldiers and not as police. For the greater part of the year the men are harassed with drills, parades, etc., that it is almost a physical impossibility for them to perform their best duties properly. The writer of this article served some years in a well-known police force at home; the efficiency of which was as good as any in the Kingdom, and there drill was put aside as a minor qualification.

What training was given was of a useful nature. A splendid gymnasium was provided, and exercises performed which the men took a healthy interest in, and which made them smart and athletic-looking. A school was held for the teaching of police matters and law only. A library was provided, stocked with all the books a policeman should read. A Mutual Improvement Society with police questions for discussion was held weekly. In Hongkong there is nothing of this. True, there is a staff little room at the Central Police Station, called a library, which is capable of holding at most seven or eight men, and which contains little literature worth reading except the current newspapers. A canteen is provided which is a questionable benefit. If the time spent in useless drill was devoted to other and better methods of training, the public might then hope for some improvement in the police.

The third and last question is equally hopeless as the foregoing questions have been. The encouragement given to the police to make themselves efficient in their work is practically nil. An examination is supposed to be held yearly which provides only one prize, however many may compete. The bulk of the marks given are for a knowledge of Cantonese colloquial and drill. This is unfair, as men who have been in the Army, and men who have had long contact with the Chinese, have it all their own way, and there are many of these in the H.K.P. The examination held should be solely upon police matters with a prospect of at least three prizes. Otherwise the examination is a farce.

However, if a knowledge of Chinese is essential, what is the reward of the studious "bobby"? Let us tell you it is the magnificent sum of $5 monthly! Think of it, ye yaipans, who luxuriate in your palatial residences at the Peak and elsewhere, and who bribe henchmen at the police. The Government has even taken away the exchange compensation on the $5, and that their old age will be free from the cares of poverty. But most men can free themselves from such cares by investing in an Instalment Endowment of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, which will provide an absolutely certain and permanent income of from $200 to $20,000 a Year for their mature years, without sinking much capital to secure the income.

And moreover, in case of premature death, the income commences at once to the family.

WAR OFFICE REFORM.

London, 11th September.

The letter has appeared from Lord Rosebery.
It says that, with the report of the War Commission in their hands, there is danger of foreign statesmen holding Great Britain cheap, this meaning an increased risk of war. No time, he says, must be lost in remedying this.
Whatever the departmental responsibility, it is no wise to diminish the collective responsibility of the Cabinet. The nation itself is also responsible, and must exert its constitutional power.

"As regards the remedy," His Lordship proceeds, "we fortunately possess a man for the crisis, and we should give Lord Kitchener
the fullest authority to re-organise the War Office system, possibly on similar lines to that of the Navy."

Russia imposes other conditions as regards
Manchuria, to which China strongly objects,
